++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Staying dry today but turning showery from tomorrow.

Today:
After a cold start, any cloud will gradually dissipate during the morning, allowing for a warm and sunny day. High cloud moving southwards will turn sunshine hazy for a time. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying fine and dry into the evening with clear skies but turning rather cloudy across the country overnight. Feeling cold. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Tuesday:
A few showers in the north first thing but many areas starting dry. Throughout the day showers will become more frequent across the country, some heavy. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Cloudy with scattered showers on Wednesday. Thursday and Friday will see sunny spells and further showers, some locally heavy. Turning colder throughout with a risk of overnight frosts.
